This event is just for physicians. Moral Injury in Medicine, scheduled April 12, 2023 in Portsmouth, NH, will address the personal and systemic challenges that doctors are facing, as well as providing effective strategies to combat the devastating, demoralizing and infuriating dilemmas of current healthcare settings.

Speakers will:

- Define moral injury in healthcare and describe how to recognize it
- Explain both individual and systemic risk factors for moral injury
- Equip participants with strategies for recovery

- Identify necessary changes within healthcare that can reduce risks for moral injury
- Provide time in small, confidential, peer-facilitated support groups to experience strategies for alleviating moral distress and moral injury

Speakers Include:

- Rita Nakashima Brock, Ph.D., Senior Vice President & Director, Shay Moral Injury Center at Volunteers of America
- Dr. Wendy Dean, MD, President & Co-Founder, Moral Injury of Healthcare
- Dr. Mona Masood, DO, Founder & Chief Organizer, Physician Support Line
- Dr. Simon Talbot, MD, Associate Professor, Harvard Medical School and Attending Surgeon, Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, MA; Co-Founder, Moral Injury of Healthcare

Seminar co-hosts: Moral Injury of Healthcare, the Shay Moral Injury Center at Volunteers of America, Volunteers of America Northern New England, and Volunteers of America Massachusetts.

Sincerely,
